Whig Campaign Paper !- The Rights of the People.

This paper will be commenced in the course of next week-on what day, we may be enabled to state on Monday or Tuesday. It will prove all that the Whig party can desire in such a paper. The friends of the cause are requested to leave their orders at our counter, and also the names of persons throughout the United States to whom they may wish to have the prospectus forwarded.

Virginia and Her Heroic Son-Massachusetts and the Whig Cause.

Among the glorious old thirteen States composing the United States of North America, Virginia and Massachusetts-the "Old Dominion" and the Bay State-have ever been distinguished for the patriotic devotion of their sons to the of oppression and tyrauny. In our ever-to-beremembered revolutionary struggle, the descendand of the colony of "Jamestown," were alike distinguished for their love of liberty, their heroism, and inextinguishable devotion to the rights of the human family. The tea party in Boston, and the speech of Patrick Henry in Democrat, he and all his Democratic sons will the British House of Burgesses, have become sustain you on the day when your friends should classic in history, and will be as undying as the fame of John and Samuel Adams, the devout republican virtue of Thomas Jefferson, and the valor, the judgment, and unspotted purity of the "Father of his Country." It is delightful to take a retrospective view-to reflect upon the transcendent talents, the shining virtues, and heroic firmness of the illustrious men of those two States (then colonies) who so brilliantly figured in "the times that tried men's souls."

Coming down to a later period in our country's history, after the adoption of the federal constitution, we find Virginia and Massachusetts united to accelerate the ship of state-to extend the invaluable blessings of free institutions. In the forum, and on the field of strife, grappling with the enemies of our country, these honored and illustrious members of the Union this city have advised Mr. Turner to get up this have been united in wisdom and in valor to pre- festive excursion, and that a goodly number of serve unstained the honor and glory of the country at large.

In the coming Presidential contest may we not son of one-a man of talents, of valor, and of promote the safety, comfort, and pleasure of the brilliant renown, whose good fortune it has been, party, and especially to render the company enin war and in peace, by deeds of courage and tirely secure from every possible annoyance. It of humanity, to reflect honor and glory, not only is not likely that such an opportunity will again upon the State of his birth, but upon old Massa- be presented! chusetts, and the entire Union? Surely, the sons of both of these renowned commonwealths will candidate for the Presidency-Winfield Scott.

A Hero!

"Fulstaff: No more of that, an' you love nie, Hal."
HENRY IV.

If the Democratic party persist in their endeavors to make a hero of the spirited, clever, and gentlemanly Pierce, they will do him greater damage than they can ever repair. It is unkind in them, and he will soon become convinced of the fact, and pray that he may be saved from his friends.

The Indiana Sentinel, for example, says that, after the carrying of Molino del Rey, and while to cover the retreat of Garland's and Cadwallader's brigades, which were directed to fall back on Pucubaya, and that, although the guns of Chepultepec were served spitefully upon them, the movement was accomplished without loss.

The Louisville Journal quotes General Worth's statement in regard to this, as follows:

"I have to assert that the battle had been won more than one hour before Gen. Pierce's brigade parallel, except that the Tribune has a little more or any other supports reached the ground; that gumption than the Post, by a jug-full! Neither I had been nearly that length of time engaged in holds itself amenable to its party; and the party collecting the wounded and dead; that Pierco's of neither should be held accountable for it. The Whige of New York in Council!

The ratification meeting on Thursday night was majestic and mighty like the great ocean itself! It is described in the papers as the most hearty, overwhelming congregation of freemen ever assembled in that city. The two halls in Broadway House were wedged full by less than a quarter of the assemblage before the Scott clubs from the several wards began to arrive in procession; Grand street was full from Broadway nearly to Crosby street, and Broadway itself soon became so blocked up from Broome to Howard streets that carriages could not pass, and were bliged to abandon the street. Grand street, west of Broadway to Mercer street, was densely packed. As the ward clubs moved from time to time with torches, banners, and music, the speaking was interrupted by tempestuous cheering, and every one seemed to feel that 1840 had come round again. The Tribune says: "We have had one as large meeting, but no such assemblage of in consequence of the unpropitious state of the all classes since the Tippecanoe times, and none so large even then. As many as could hear the speakers at the various stands stood and listened. or were interrupted only by the irrepressible cheering; but there were thousands who could not get within hearing distance, and must needs be content with exchanging congratulations over the auspicious result at Baltimore and the moral certainty of success which the nominations have insured. What was spoken at any stand, or what was resolved there, no fourth of the meeting could hear; but all were for Scott and Graham, and that sufficed for universal happiness and concord."

The resolutions were of the most energetic. patriotic, and conciliatory character, and were carried by acclamation. They reaffirm the Baltimore platform.

Speeches were delivered by the Hon. Ogden, Hoffman, Senator Jones, of Tennessee, and

Mar Our Georgetown correspondent has today communicated to us an agreeable little anecdote. He says that a worthy Democrat from the Old Dominion yesterday called upon Gen. Scott. and was kindly received, as is every visiter who cause of republican institutions, and their hatred approaches him. "I would have called upon you with pleasure," said the guest, "on my own account, but, as it is, I come with a message from ants of the immigrants of the "May Flower," my father. He was with you at Chippewa; and when he fell, severely wounded, you stopped the flow of blood from his wound with your own hand, and ministered to his relief. He sends you his thanks, and the assurance that, though a show themselves such !" General Scott remembered well the incident and the man, to whom he returned the kindest assurances of his remembrance and esteem. On Tuesday next, at 5 o'clock p. m., the steamer Columbia will depart from her wharf in this city and make an evening excursion on the Potomac river. She has been procured for this occasion by Mr. R. On Monday night last, in the midst of the mulrally with enthusiasm to the support of the child | titude who went with the band of music to sereof Virginia-the man of New Jersey, and of the nade General Scott, was a poor, gawky-looking Union-the laureled patriot and hero-the Whig | guy of a red republican, who did not seem "native here and to the manner born." Addressing a juvenile Whig near him in the line, he asked, Who is Gineral Scott, any how?" "Don't you know?" was the young one's question in response. "Not's I knows on !" said he. "Well, do you know what tune the band is playing?" "Think I've hearn it afore, but not right sartin. What you call it !" "Don't know that tune ?" said the boy; then I suppose you don't know who General Scott is, sure enough; for General Scott and Yankee Doodle go together throughout the whole United States, and all the rest of the annexable creation-they do! But there he is, look at the enemy were beating a retreat, Gen. Pierce him! -- and up went the shout, and up went the was sent with the second and ninth regiments green one's chapeau high in the air, as the majestic form of the old hero appeared before his astonished gaze!

The object is to raise funds for the improvement of the church and grounds. This venerable edifice built in the early part of the eighteenth century, demands and deserves the protecting care of a generation the graves of whose forefathers encircle it. Standing in a beautiful and sequestered spot, where the population is as limited in number as in means, its appeals to those who assemble weekly within its walls are felt as they should be, but can only be imperfectly answered. This invitation of the ladies of the parish will therefore, it is hoped, receive a general and liberal response from the lovers of natural scenery, and those whose taste leads them to linger among the memorials of past ages, and of those who are moved by the loftier pur pose of evincing their gratitude to a beneficent Creator by

THE WRONGED!

CITIZENS OF WASHINGTON, your honor is at stake in this case. A citizen of the United States came to your city to publish "The Truth," as the offering of God; and to prevent it, he was accused of attempting the life of a Senator, and was illegally cast into prison and cut off from all communication with his friends; and, in all, he has been confined one hundred and thirty-four days, sufered cruel and unusual punishment, such as is given to great criminals, and that, too, without cause, save that he would not bow to the dictum of a cruel "Peterized" tyrant, one that cuts such vile tricks that caused angels, men, women, and children to weep. That you may hear more concerning the place that I named the mouth of held, and what the honorable the Mayor and Board of Aldermen and Board of Common Council will do with all concerned in their infamous course towards one whose life since 1830 has been spent in doing good and seeking the honor and glory of the country in which his father died in its service, and whose grandfather was an officer under Washington, the father of the country that may yet be the centre of all good on earth. If the citizens will but choose good officers to rule over them, and carry out the principles of "He that ruleth over men, must be just, ruling in the fear of God." Let all 'that will aid to right the wronged, and that desire the welfare of the city, meet in the front of the City Hall on Monday, the 28th of June, 1852, at 8 o'clock p. m. Do right, and God will be with us.
